

VIRGINIA CATHOLIC CONFERENCE

What We Do

Led by the Diocese of Arlington Bishop Burbidge and the Diocese of Richmond Bishop Knestout, the Virginia Catholic Conference (VCC) advocates for public policy that reflects natural law, advances human dignity and serves the common good.

How We Do It

The VCC builds relationships with state and federal lawmakers, and partners with advocates who have shared interests.

Get Involved

The VCC promotes grassroots and grasstops advocacy. This includes using the VCC email advocacy network and in-person advocacy, such as visits to legislators' district or capital city offices.

Join Our Advocacy Network!

Use the QR Code below to join our advocacy network and be the first to hear about vital issues affecting life, social and economic justice, religious liberty, family life and education! Your legislators need to hear from you!

